PROLOGUE

We entered high school four years ago. These years of high school have been ones of comprehensive experience. We know that while attending classes, and participating in the school life, we have gained two great assets: to draw strength from the friendships which we have formed and to utilize the knowledge which we have acquired. Of the two, the value of the friendship is foremost in our minds as we open the CANTAB. We entered high school seeking many goals; let us enjoy some of them again.

Dedication

JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

In Memoriam

He strove for justice; he struggled for equality.

He dedicated his abilities to peace; he committed his loyalty to democracy.

In the face of grave anxiety, he maintained his enthusiasm;
In the face of harsh reality, he retained his idealism.

Unspoiled by power, he remained humble; undaunted by setbacks, he continued courageous.

He appreciated the contributions of youth; he respected the experience of age.

He died as a sacrifice to hatred and intolerance; he lives as a symbol of brotherhood.

CLASS POEM

By Patricia Lyons

We are the children of paradox:
Born in peace, but bred to war
Born in love, but bred to hate
Told to pray, but not to wait
Made to wonder evermore.

We are the children of science:
Of satellite and soaring jet
The speed of light and atoms split
Of germs destroyed, in diseases fight,
Of power and of challenge met.

We are the children of hunger:
For new frontiers in space to claim
Everlasting pleasure and frenzied fun
The sweetness of cold oblivion
But mostly for that which has no name.

We are the creators of tomorrow:
Of faith to give the world again
Of love and light
Of inner sight
Of peace on earth, goodwill to men.

CLASS HISTORY

The year is 3964 A.D. A group of archeologists is excavating on the site of that ancient city of culture and center of learning, Cambridge, Massachusetts. The scientists are amazed at how advanced the extinct colony of scholars was. Although it took them quite a while to figure out the strange hieroglyphics, they were making quite a bit of progress and today will finish unearthing what was once apparently a building of yellow brick and gray cement. One of the scientists calls excitedly to a companion and points out the strange inscriptions about the large, green door—Homer, Virgil, Euclid, Fallout Shelter. What can it all mean! Slowly, carefully, the men work their way through the rubble and eventually come to a narrow corridor and a tiny office on the third floor, preserved almost perfectly because of all the hot air inside. Hearts beating loudly, they cross the threshold and slowly look around. There is a desk and on it one of those curious, automatic hieroglyphic machines. Wait! What's this? Why, there are still some dried, yellow pieces of paper covered with symbols beside the machine. What important discovery are these archeologists about to make?

Laboriously, one of the scholars translates the ancient symbols for the others in the group:

FRESHMAN

The class of 1964 began its first year with six hundred thirty-five students, one of the largest classes in many years.

The first event of the year was the G. A. A., initiation, for which the girls carried their books in shopping bags and wore tiny ponytails in their hair, funny ties around their necks, and bright ribbons on their sneakers.

In early October, the G. A. A. sponsored the Harvest Hop, a highly successful dance attended by many of the freshmen.

For their presentation in the Interclass Plays, the freshmen performed "My Client Curly," in which our aspiring addresses and actors made their debuts.

Many freshman members of the Glee Club and the Band took part in the rally to arouse school spirit for the annual Rindge-Latin Thanksgiving Day football game. Despite the enthusiasm of the fans and the excellent performance of the Latin players, CHLS was defeated by Rindge.

As winter started, our freshman teams in hockey and basketball became very active, with many boys participating in these sports.

In the spring, our Dramatic Club won first place in the Massachusetts Drama Festival for its presentation of Saint Joan, by George Bernard Shaw.

Later, in May, the girls' Choir and the Band took part in the Northeast Music Festival, in which they received high ratings.

As the school year drew to a close and we received our final report cards, we paused to express our gratitude to Miss Smith, the retiring dean who had done so much for the Freshman girls.

SOPHOMORE

Our sophomore year began with all students anxious to participate in the activities of the school. The sophomore members of the Student Council were: Anthony Glavin, Joyce London, and Mary McLaughlin. Ten boys of the sophomore class who had maintained high averages for the first year were invited to join the Key Club.

The whole sophomore class was stunned and saddened by the loss of a fellow classmate, Neil Cronin, who died during a heart operation.

In November, the sophomores presented the amusing comedy, Auntie Mame, by Patrick Dennis, for the Interclass Plays.

The football team was not successful this year, but all the sophomores enjoyed rooting for the hard-working players.

Among the innovations this year was the changing of the schedule to seven periods a day with an activity period on Monday. A modern langauge laboratory was installed in the school for the use of the langauge classes. After a lapse of several years, our school newspaper resumed publication. Under the direction of Mr. Peter Budryk, the student staff turned out the first edition of the Latin Forum.

Our hockey team was outstanding this year. After placing second in the Greater Boston League, the Cantabs went on to the second round of the state tournament, where they were defeated by Melrose.

At the annual school science fair, Gerald Koocher won first prize for his exhibition on plastics. Pauline Welsh won the Liberty Prize Speaking Contest with her interpretive reading from G. B. Shaw's Saint Joan.

Our sophomore year ended with all prospective juniors looking anxiously towards the start of the next school year.

JUNIOR

Our junior year began on a note of insanity with the K. B. initiation. For two years our girls had been fascinated by the Girls' Honor Society mysteriously known as the K. B., and now at last, they were invited to parade about the school in outlandish costumes with flour patted onto their faces, and teabags draped over their ears. That night, the girls were officially initiated at a ceremony at the Elks' Hall.

Modern Greek classes were added to our curriculum in November.

Also in November, our Dramatic Club presented the junior class play, "Harlequinade" by Terence Rattigan.

Mr. McKenna accompanied Anthony Glavin to Chicago for the National Youth Conference on the Atom.

Our track team won the Metropolitan League Championship during the 1962-1963 season; our baseball team went into the State Tournament.

Diane Geraigery was chosen as our district representative to the Junior Achievement Convention in Illinois. The Red Cross chose Brigid Chamberlain as its Good Citizen of the year.

The members of the student council who were elected to serve this year were Barbara McKinney, Anthony Glavin, Joyce London, and Mary McLaughlin.

In February, the K. B. Society held its annual semi-formal dance with a "Winter-Wonderland" theme at the Stephen-James House.

The Ring Committee chose our 1964 class rings in March.

In April, our Science Quiz Team, which included juniors Anita Herman and Gerald Koocher, tied in a quiz with Framingham on WHDH T.V., Channel 5.

CLASS HISTORY

In the merry month of May, Roland Faubert won first prize at the annual school science fair for his project on surface tension.

The English Department in cooperation with the Dramatic Club sponsored a production of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" for the Anna P. Butler Scholarship Fund. An entirely off-beat, much modified version of this play won our school fame in the three Drama Festivals: "Preliminary, Massachusetts State, and New England. Two juniors, Arthur Lipkin and Judith Salvi won acting awards in competition. The entire cast received awards from the School Committee on Prize Day for their achievement.

Also worth noting on Prize Day was Carmine Egidio's winning the Latin Prize for the second year in a row, Caroline Cunningham's winning her second math prize in three years, and Pat Lyons' receiving the Phi Beta Kappa Award for excellence in liberal arts.

SENIOR

It occurred to everyone at sometime during the summer that this would be the last year we would have at high school. With this in mind, everyone got set for an active final year. Our student council members, Anthony Glavin, Joyce London, Mary McLaughlin, Barbara McKinney, Jacqueline Allen, and Dana Gallup, brought this determination to their work.

The fall brought two new changes: an advanced placement biology course was added to the curriculum and our favorite haunt, the Latin Hall, was partitioned into study rooms. The library, begun the spring before, was near completion.

Everyone was excited about School and Commerce Day. Anita Herman, President of the National Honor Society, represented CHLS during the opening exercises. Afterwards, Diane Beachem, Arthur Lipkin, and Naomi Spiller won U. S. savings bonds for their essays describing the day.

Hardly had we settled down when a new event loomed ahead, senior elections. We were justly proud of ourselves for electing four good officers: Anthony Glavin, President; Joyce London, Vice-President; Robert Burns, Treasurer; and Donna Kenney, Secretary.

Meanwhile, interested students had initiated a new club, the Mental Health Careers Club, which brought together students who were preparing to enter the field of psychology or psychiatry, Ann Gaudet was instrumental in bringing about this new organization.

Our Key Club had moved way up to first place in New England, and Roland Faubert was chosen Lieutenant Governor of Division 5-E and Chairman of the 1964 New England District Convention.

All activity stopped suddenly on November twenty-second with President Kennedy's tragic assassination. We resumed our school activities with heavier hearts.

One issue of the FORUM, whose headline read, "The FORUM Welcomes All New Teachers and Students?", came through from the printers with a question mark at the end of the headline. This resulted in a frantic pasting of exclamation points over the offending question marks and almost resulted in a nervous collapse for Editor Pat Lyons. The editors of the yearbook understand!

The student council chose Brigid Chamberlain as Good Citizen to represent us at a luncheon given by the Jewish War Veterans. The student council also chose Anthony Glavin to represent the school on Massachusetts Student Government Day.

The Dramatic Club tried an innovation for the Christmas play in presenting a hilarious musical based on The Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens. We're sure that no one will ever forget Arthur Barton and Jane Specter as Mr. and Mrs. Fezziwig.

That morning, before Christmas vacation, The Charles Crawley Award for best all-around athlete was presented to Dana Gallup, who certainly merited it.

Then, those august personages who direct this yearbook, a most valorous undertaking, were named. Janice Cloran and Patricia A. Petow were chosen as co-editors.

During this time, sports were certainly not neglected. Laurels were awarded the track team, which won the Class B State and the Metropolitan Track League Championships. Henry Cabarrus set a record in the high jump and Howard Soones won first place in the six hundred yard run for which achievements they were chosen to compete in the National Schoolboy Track Championship in New York. So the half-year mark was passed.

On February fifteenth, the K. B. under the direction of President Mary Barbera held its annual semi-formal, this year entitled, "The King and Queen of Hearts Ball." Elected King and Queen were Richard Abcunas and Elizabeth Lynn.

Our favorite citizen, Anita Herman, was chosen to receive the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen Award.

Naomi Spiller won this year's Washington Medal with an essay on the topic, George Washington, Resident of Cambridge.

Elizabeth Sakowich received the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award as the top scorer of C. H. L. S.

The Dramatic Club will present The Trojan Women in the Drama Festival competition.

Approximately five hundred reluctant yet eager seniors who are waiting anxiously to hear from the colleges of their choice or are planning ahead for permanent jobs, now are counting the days until June 1 and graduation.

The scientists are ecstatic over their discovery. They have uncovered a brilliant account of life among the young scholars in ancient Cambridge.

As they make their way into the dim corridors, tripping over waterguns and rolls of lifesaver wrappers, ghosts of the long ago seem to make themselves felt. Then, weakly, down through the dusty centuries of the ages there seems to come a faint whispering echo. The archeologists pause to listen to the warning voice of the past. Is it just imagination, or can the voice really be calling: "No loitering in and around the building . . ."

CLASS OF '64 HOLDS FIRST REUNION IN 10 YEARS!

Well, ten years have passed since the class of 1964 warmed the hallowed halls of Cambridge Latin. Many members of the class have traveled great distances and wondered away, but they all are returning this week for the 10th reunion.

Tonight is the night of the party, and as we enter the ballroom, we see many of the old familiar faces. Over in that corner way over there is the great psychiatrist, Dr. Joyce London, conversing with nurses Gail Hall and Diane Petrillo on the problems of medicine. Still on the subject of medicine, we notice child psychologist Patricia Buchanan dancing with writer Edward Von Stein. With the help of Maureen Clark, Mr. Von Stein won the Pulitzer prize this year for his great novel, The Fence. Why, if I'm not mistaken, over there are those famous engineers, Kenneth Halliday and James Legiere discussing their exploratory trip to Mars last year. Over by the orchestra, I believe, are Nancy Hathaway and Caroline Cunningham, who are high school math teachers. The class of '64 seems to have had a wealth of school teachers, some of whom are Dorothea Roussopolous and Kathie Tobin, both elementary school teachers; Lucia Sturges, language teacher; and Diane Mederios, who has just received her Ph. D. in English. Why, is that the class shutterbug, Gerald Koocher? I see he is still up to his old tricks. Look who he's catching unaware, it's beauty editor Mary Ann Horgan. I understand that our class president, Mr. Tony Glavin, is a likely candidate for Governor at the next State Convention. Well, all I can say is, "Lots of Luck!"

SPORTS

FLASH! Donna Kenney has been appointed manager of the Boston Celtics by an outstanding majority — of the players of course . . . James Remeika finally made the Boston Bruins. He is their new trainer . . . Robert Reardon is in contention for the World's Fly Weight Championship in boxing . . . Richie Rossi is still on the bench at C.H.L.S., but now as head football coach . . . America's hopes for the 1974 Summer Olympics Swimming Championship rest on the able shoulders of Robert S. Walsh.

LET'S GO TO THE MOVIES

Now opening at the Harvard Square Theatre in Cambridge, Massachusetts is the famed actor, Joseph Vitiello. His current smash hit is entitled, "MY HOLLYWOOD SUMMER." That new actress, Ann Goode, is Mr. Vitiello's co-star.

TALK OF THE TOWN

. . . That fabulous singing sensation, THE SPIDERS, (Cheryl Clifford, Phyllis Fowler, Terry Thomas, and Waltye Pilgrim) has been creeping the nation with its new sound . . . The following girls were awarded checks of $11 for their ten years' service to the telephone company: Sandra Souza, Evelyn Karpowitz, Janice Shipper, Christine Campbell, and Joan Percy . . . Carolyn Toomey and Marianne Venturini have just returned from a peace mission into the dark of Africa . . . That young socialite, Karen Kosinski, is about to embark on a tour of the Moon . . . Those two Hollywood toasts of the town, Paula Grygiel and Diane Quaterone, have just married men with the initials F. S. and D. M. respectively . . . Raymond Rivera is still giving orders, but now as an Army sargent at Fort Dix, New Jersey . . . Mr. Richard Weinstein is spending the summer on some foggy beach in Florida . . . The quiet one, Jane Russell, has just been granted an audience with her majesty, Queen Isabella of Spain.

EXTRA! EXTRA! EXTRA!

Mr. Daniel Viera has been arrested for singing on the corners of Trowbridge and Ellery Sts. again. The arresting officer, Dectective Lieutenant Janice Cloran, has obtained evidence to be presented in court. Defense attorney, Pat Petow, is planning to enter a plea of NOT GUILTY! by reason of temporary insanity. The following people have been chosen to serve on the jury: Eleanor Arcanjo, Audrey Vetrano, Jo-Ann Burke, Anna Spera, Maria Springer, Pauline Bourke, Thomas Pilleri, Joseph Thomas, Robert Shevach, Arthur Lipkin, Dana Gallup, and Julius Fendermen.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls' basketball team is looking forward to a good season this year. The senior varsity players for the 1964 season include Rosemary Whalen, Donna Kenney, Cindy Holland, Nancy Gillis, Frances Young, Janice Concannon, Lorraine Waterman, and Jo-Ann Cavallaro.

It is with great pride and appreciation that the team thanks our coaches Miss Hyde and Miss George. Under their direction we have all learned the true meaning of good sportsmanship.

BASKETBALL TEAM

Although the basketball team was rebuilding itself this year, several senior boys made valuable contributions to the lineup. Tom Pilleri and Tad Gallup, the co-captains, kept the team spirit high throughout the season with their excellent offensive and defensive plays. Top ranking defensive basketball as played by Joe Elcewicz, Tony Anelauskas, Mike Costello, and Dan Lyons. Because of a knee operation, Frank Kelly participated in only two of the season's games. Throughout the season, team spirit was maintained by the Senior Manager, Dave Andelman. The Team wishes Coach Lyons a speedy recovery and thanks Mr. Balfe for his valuable coaching assistance. Thanks to these senior ball players, the season may be considered a success.

CROSS COUNTRY

Although in the middle of a rebuilding season, the Latin harriers surprised many of the strong teams in the rough Met league. The team, with only three seniors, was composed mainly of sophomores and juniors; and next season promises to be one of the most productive in the history of the school.

TENNIS TEAM

Due to an inexperienced team, last season proved to be quite a disappointment. Things are looking up, however, since this season's tennis team will have eight lettermen. This bright outlook would not be possible without the excellent guidance and valuable assistance of coach Alan Cohen.

Next season's team will be composed of Dana Gallup (Captain), George Asprakis, Julie Evangelista, Richard Gallup, James Havlin, Robert Rorelstin, Paul Sullivan, and Ned Waring.

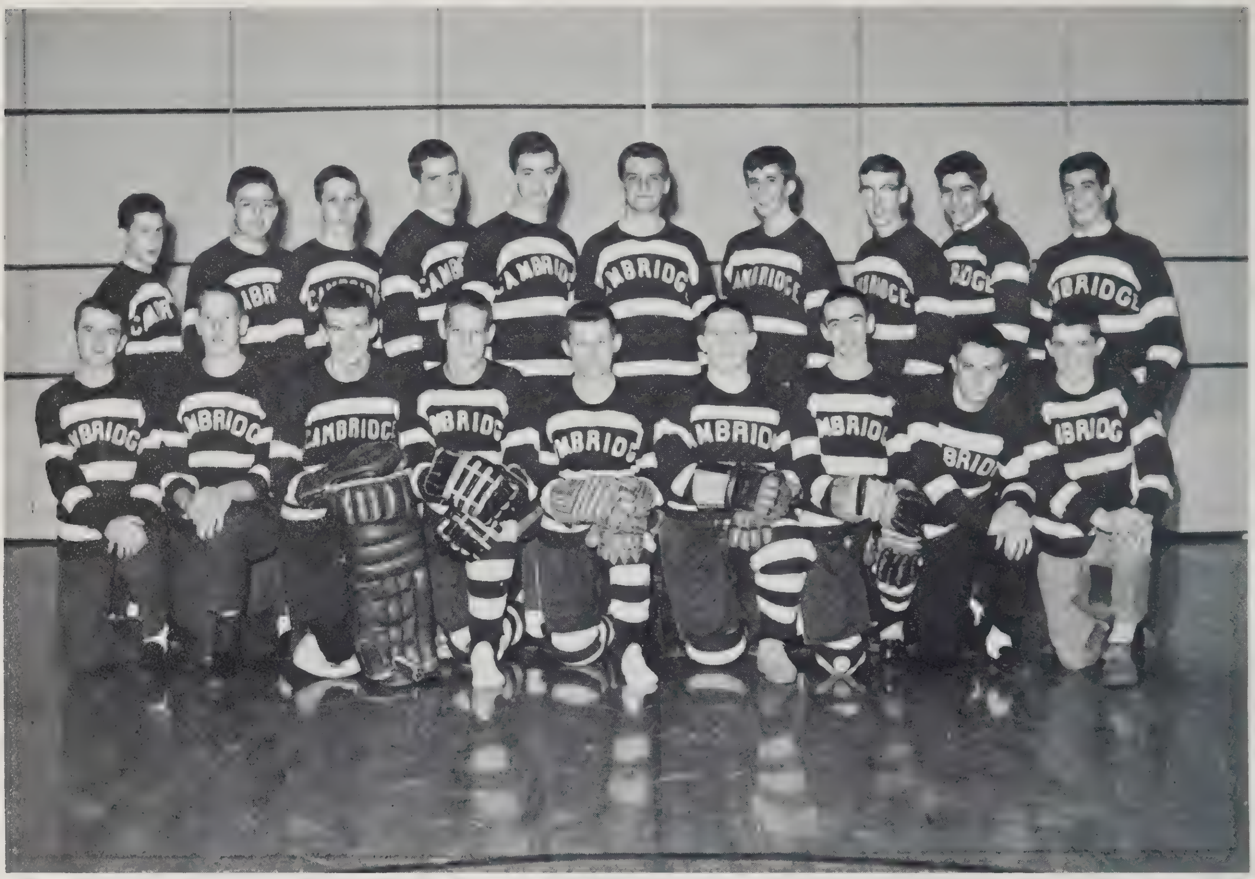
SWIMMING TEAM

Last year's graduation left our team with only freshmen and sophomores. However, the team became enthusiastic after a mid-season victory over Ringe Tech. Four lettermen, Tom Zukauskas, John Havronek, Harold Werlin and Bob Walsh (the captain), returned to the squad this year. The team and its competent coach, Mr. Kenney, have great hope for the remainder of the season.



HOCKEY TEAM

HOCKEY TEAM

In spite of a dismal first half of the CHLS '63-'64 hockey season, the team and coach, James Fitzgerald, are looking forward to the second half of the season with optimism. The team's record for the first half season is 2 wins, 4 loses, and a tie. The teams that bit the dust (or ice as the case may be) before the Contabs were Somerville and Medford High. The tie was a result of an encounter with the school across the street. This year's team is led by an all senior first wave, consisting of Captain John Pakstis, at center, flanked by Tim Murphy and Jim Remeika. The defence is composed of senior Bill Skinner, and sophomore Bill Burke, while the goalie position is very capably held by Fred Ritzau. The second line, which the coach rates on a par with the first line, consists of Clyde "Skip" McCarthy holding down the center position with Paul Riley and either junior Francis O'Brian or senior Bill Sullivan on the wings. Mike Stansbury, a junior, alternates with either defenseman. This season the team management is in the capable hands of John McCarthy, a senior.

BASEBALL TEAM—1963

1963 BASEBALL TEAM

Last season's varsity baseball team won a berth in the state tourney by capitalizing on the other teams' mistakes. Coach "Sonny" Foley was graced with a team which had both ability and intelligence: they seized almost every opportunity to score during the entire season. Captain Roy Creedon led his teammates through a tremendous first half of the season losing only one game, but a mental letdown almost turned the tide for the elated Cantabs. After a severe shock, the Cantabs went on to finish third in the Suburban League losing only three games during the season. Entering the state tourney as underdogs, the spirited team reached the quarter finals after edging Belmont and trouncing Concord. In the quarter-finals, the Cantabs were eliminated by Lynn Classical by a score of 3-2 in extra innings.

This season we look for a better record from the team which has four returning starters and six who have had enough experience to fill any vacancy on the team. Under capable Captain Joe Elcewicz, the 1964 varsity baseball team will open the new season with experience, talent, spirit, and ability.

GOLF TEAM

During the past season, the golf team has had a very successful season, because the boys displayed great form against opposing teams. This year's team looked even better with the return of six lettermen: John Devaney, Daniel McNamara, Charles Rose, Skip McCarthy, William Killion, Gary Joseph, and John Corcoran.

The team wishes to thank Mr. James Landrigan for his expert coaching and to wish future teams continued success.

TRACK

TRACK

This has been one of the best seasons for CHLS Indoor Track in the school's history. After winning the Class B State Championship, the team went on to tie Newton South, and Norwood for the Metropolitan League Championship. Hank Cabarrus had a fantastic season, remaining undefeated in the high jump, and setting a new state record for Class B at 6 feet, 3¾ inches. Co-captain Howie Soones proved his supremacy by winning the state 600 yard championship. Co-captain Dave Gittens still holds the Class B state record in the 45 yard hurdles. Aided further by Art Costa and Joe LoPresti in the 1000, Joe Magnaghi, in the shot put, Charlie Phycic, in the dash, Hank Turner, in the 300, and Wes Taylor, in the mile, coach Joseph McDavitt has, once again been able to turn out an omnipotent track squad.

FOOTBALL TEAM

This year's Football team did not quite live up to its expectations. The team's 0-7-1 record was due largely to key injuries which necessitated the use of many inexperienced ball players. Although the defense was sound, the offensive scoring punch left much to be desired. A better record is to be hoped for next year under co-captains Stephen Edmons and Richard McKinnon.

We wish to thank head coach John Noble and his capable assistants Peter Budryk and John "Tweet" Reardon for their excellent guidance and leadership. Mr. Budryk returned to his almamater after several years of coaching at the "school across the street". Mr. Reardon ably filled in for Dick York who took over Freshman duties.

Seniors who won letters are Joe LoPresti, Tom Pilleri, Gene Trioli, Art Centanni, Joe Magnaghi, Jim Legier, Henry Turner, Ray Rivera, Dave Lumbert, Rich Rossi, Joe Elcewicz, Fran Walsh, Jim Remeika, John McCarthy, and Captain Dana Gallup.

EPILOGUE

In a short time, we shall leave Cambridge High and Latin School. The friends we have made and the activities we have enjoyed are now fresh in our memories. As the years pass, our yearbook will help us to recall and to appreciate the significance of these days spent in our high school, and, in reliving our experiences, we shall come to treasure them enjoyed in that exuberant, youthful mood.
